Ten Hill Place Hotel is awarded full four-star service

Ten Hill Place Hotel has been awarded four star full service by Visit Scotland.

Ten Hill Place is owned by The Royal College of Surgeons of Edinburgh. All income generated by the hotel goes back into the College's charity to help in pursuit of excellence and advancement in surgical practice, through education, training and examinations, liaison with external medical bodies and representation of the modern surgical workforce..

Ten Hill Place Hotel was opened in Edinburgh in November 2006 and at that time was graded 3-star Metro Hotel. It was upgraded to 4-star Metro in April 2011.

Since that time £300,000 has been spent on refurbishing the ground floor, increasing public space and comfort, creating 10 Wine Bar in association with Corney & Barrow and upgrading No. Ten Restaurant.

All of this, along with improved customer service, has been recognized with full four-star grading.

This has shown an excellent improvement in all that Ten Hill Place Hotel now has to offer the visitors to the city of Edinburgh. Nestled in the south side of Edinburgh, within walking distance of all tourist attractions, Ten Hill Place Hotel is becoming recognized as a quality four-star Hotel in the city.
